

Moving

From Autism Behavior Services, Inc.

Maxine is sad.

“Why?” Her mom asks.

“I don’t know,” Maxine replies.

“If something’s bothering you then you should talk about it.” Her mother states.

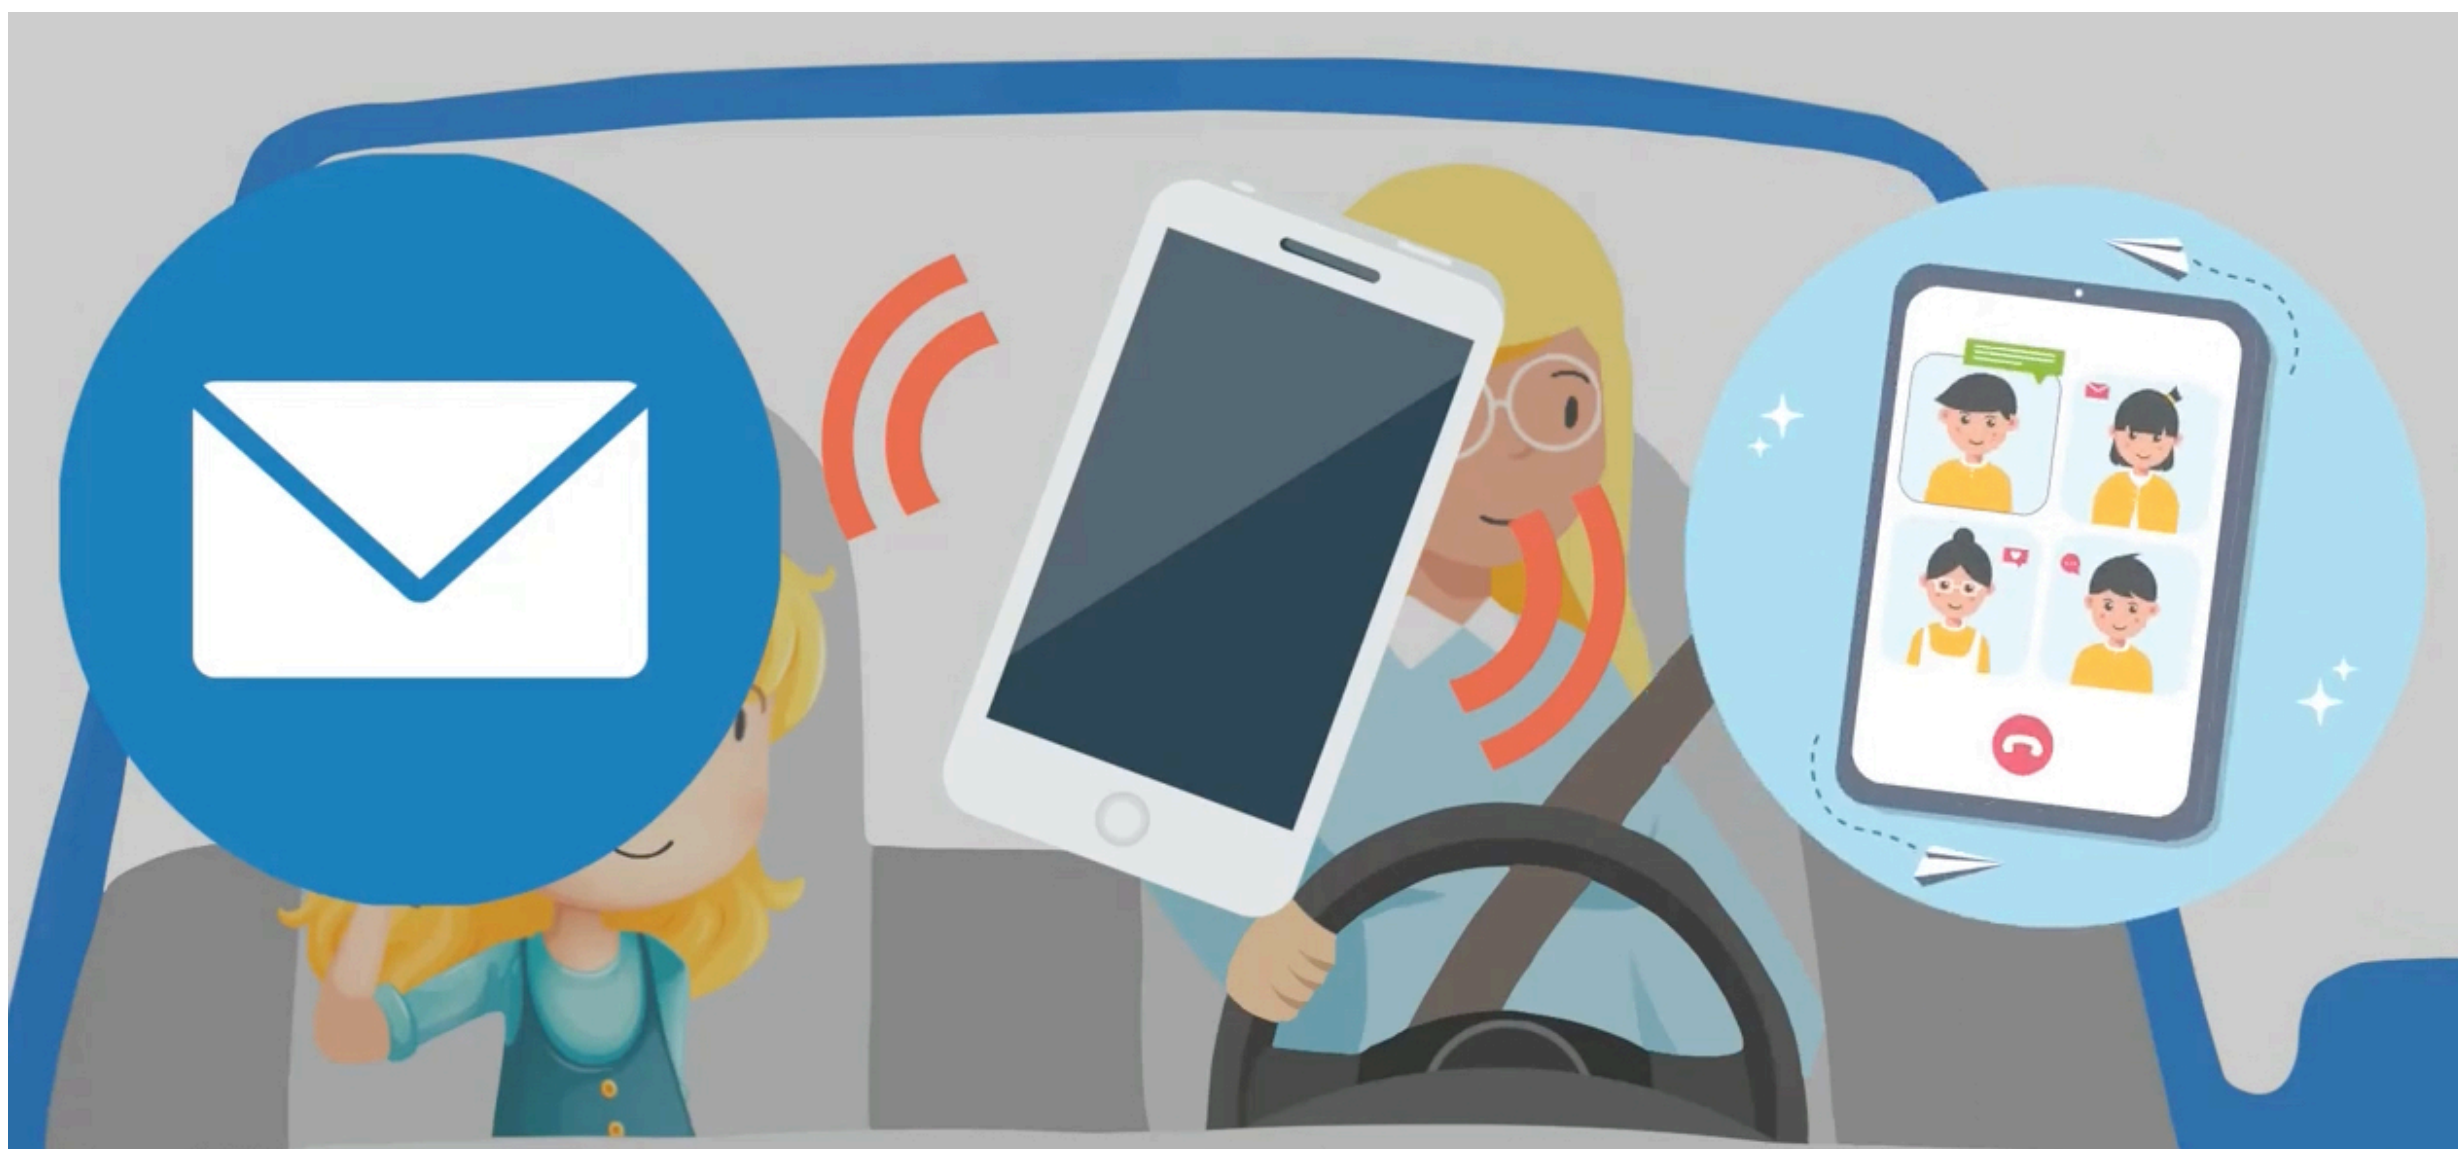

“I’m really sad I’m moving.” Maxine says.

One thing to remember is every negative experience also offers positive experiences too.

Maxine isn't losing her friends. She's just leaving them temporarily.

She can still keep in touch with them through texts, phone calls, and video chats.

On top of this Maxine's going to make new friends and have more fun experiences at her new home.

Your perspective in these situations is EVERYTHING. The more positive you are, the easier it will be when your situation changes.

For More Resources and Information please visit:

www.autismbehaviorservices.com

For More Information on Autism or Careers in Autism please contact:

1-855-581-0100

